

Hand Shake:

(three-way)

(two-way)

in the two-way handshake mode, if A stop sending any data, A will know the connection is live because it received the ack from B. B will not believe there is a connection because it didn't receive the ack to it's last packet.